

every one of them who had protested against the measure was wrong, and they would all vote for the bill. The same was true in the Senate. There was some dissatisfaction over there when the bill came from the committee, but when the Republican Senators heard from their constituents and counseled their better judgment they stood in a straight line for the amended McKinley bill.

TORNADO IN TENNESSEE.

Colored Church at Gallatin Blown Down and Two Persons Fatally Injured.

GALLATIN, Tenn., June 29.—A tornado passed over the northern part of Gallatin this evening at 5:30 o'clock, lasting about five minutes. The storm came with terrific force, uprooting trees, lifting roofs and tearing awnings and signs from their fastenings. A church, the African Methodist, was blown to pieces, and the roof caved in on the congregation. Their screams and cries could be heard a great distance. Ten were taken from the debris, and two were so horribly crushed by the roof and falling timbers that they are dying. Granville Brown, the minister, was badly crushed in his pulpit. Among the wounded and crippled are Ann Martin and Mrs. Mary Hoffman, both fatally; G. W. Woodford and child, Mary Horton, Mary Lowrey, a child of Nannie Sawyers, Granville Beech, G. Brown and others. All the doctors of the town were soon called in, and administering to the dying and wounded. The church was filled, and how any escaped injury is marvellous.

Gallatin's public school was damaged by part of the front blowing in, but the loss is not serious. Fencing and trees were swept away by the storm, and in many private residences carpets were blown and furniture and furniture into kindling wood. No other loss of life is reported up to 9 o'clock. The tornado took a southerly course, and very heavy rain fell during the time of the storm.

Damages in Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 29.—A heavy storm of rain and wind passed over this city about 7:30 o'clock this evening. Many houses in the lower part of the city have their first floors submerged and a number of shade trees were blown down. The lightning struck in several places, but no one was killed. Reports from the eastern part of the county say that many trees were uprooted and much fencing destroyed.

CATTLETTSBURG, Ky., June 29.—A terrific storm passed over this section of the country late this afternoon, doing considerable damage. The fire department, the East Kentucky Normal College, and it was destroyed. Loss, $14,000; insurance, $1,000. Three young ladies were shocked by the lightning, and one of them, Miss Calla May, partially paralyzed.

IN THE FIELD OF LABOR.

Meeting of Trainmen at Terre Haute Looking Toward Federation.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 29.—There was a union meeting of railway trainmen here to-day under the auspices of the Order of Railway Conductors. About one hundred were present, forty coming from Indianapolis on a special train tendered by the Vandavia. Others were from the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Big Four, the Erie, the Pennsylvania, and the different lines of the Vandavia system. There were conductors of both orders, engineers, firemen, brakemen and switchmen. The meeting was secret. It was announced that it is one of a series being held throughout the West as part of a general movement to get the trainmen on the employ of the railroads into closer relations, with the ultimate purpose of organized federation.

Freight Handlers' Strike May Spread.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 29.—The striking East St. Louis freight handlers held a meeting this afternoon and decided not to accept the terms offered by the railroads, and to remain out until the roads acceded to their demands. It is stated that should the roads not accede to the demands of the transfer drivers, members of the American Federation of Labor, who are immediately concerned in the freight handlers' strike, would join the strikers to-morrow.

Progress at Hill Farm Mine.

DUNBAR, Pa., June 29.—No new developments transpired to-day. The miners are still digging for an entry into the Hill Farm mine, and are now about forty-five feet beyond the original point of entrance. At midnight there was no possibility of reaching an entry before to-morrow.

Will Steer Clear of Them if He's Wise.

MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE.

Governor Hill, of New York, will attend the dedication of the Hendricks monument at Indianapolis and then indulge in a tour of the West. If he drifts up this way he will enjoy a fine opportunity to exhibit polished diplomacy in his St. Paul and Minneapolis speeches. He must not depend upon the encyclopedia, though.

Western Republicans.

Iowa Register.

It is worthy of note that the convention failed to record itself against the tariff position of the Republicans in Congress, or to show any evidence that the Republicans revolt of which the Democrats have said so much. Western Republicans are not free-traders, as Mr. Brice found out when he went chasing rainbows through the West in 1888.

The Way It Looks.

Washington Post.

It begins to look as if the question of the world's fair site will not be settled to the satisfaction of Chicago people until the managers decide to put the show on wheels.

NEWS FROM FOREIGN LANDS

Mexican Bank Concession Annulled and a Deposit of $200,000 Forfeited.

Nihilists Compelled to Leave the Continent and Seek Refuge in London—Impending Cabinet Changes in Great Britain.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 29.—The Official Gazette publishes a decree declaring that the concession for the establishment of a bank, which was granted to Alexander de Gessler, is annulled, because the bank was not started within the period fixed. The sum of $200,000 was deposited as a forfeit to be paid into the National Pawn Institution, and the money has been paid over by the national bank in which it was deposited.

A number of American theatrical companies have found their way here lately. Mr. Ryan, the United States minister, will hold a public reception on the Fourth of July.

The experimental rubber planting in Chiapas is giving fine results. A representative of an English company at Merida is preparing to buy land in Yucatan for henequen culture on a large scale.

Nihilists Searching for a Safe Retreat.

LONDON, June 29.—The recent arrest of Russian Nihilists in Paris has frightened their brethren in that city who were so fortunate as to escape being taken into custody, and they are seeking new quarters. Switzerland, owing to the fact that the Swiss government has yielded to the pressure of her larger and more powerful neighbors, and entered into extradition agreements respecting Socialists, Nihilists, dynamiters and the like, is no longer a safe place of refuge, and many of the large number who are leaving Paris are coming to London. The police have been able to locate their retreats in the East End and are watching the Nihilists who have already arrived.

Do Not Want Their Rights Abridged.

LONDON, June 29.—It has been reported several times recently that Home Secretary Matthews had decided to take steps to prohibit public meetings in the parks, and particularly in Hyde Park, and the rumor is again in circulation, with some appearance of foundation, in order to meet a popular sentiment against Mr. Matthews' alleged intention, which the Home Secretary will hesitate to antagonize, the Radical League, the workmen's unions propose to organize parties in various sections of London every Sunday and march by different routes to Hyde Park, where they will be protesting against the question of the right of public meeting.

Fears of Prince Ferdinand.

LONDON, June 29.—It is stated that Prince Ferdinand has become alarmed at the outcry which has been aroused at the execution of Major Panizza, and is afraid to return to Sofia at present. It is alleged that he will therefore prolong his visit to Austria indefinitely, ostensibly because of ill health.

Thinks the Ministry Will Be Recast.

LONDON, June 29.—The Chronicle says that the recasting of the Ministry is not a distant event. It thinks the raising to the peerage of Mr. W. H. Smith, government leader in the House, is not unlikely. It says that Sir John Gorst will probably replace Mr. Balfour as Chief Secretary for Ireland; that Lord Hartington is likely to become Prime Minister; that Lord Salisbury will be Secretary for Foreign Affairs; that Sir Henry James will be Home Secretary; and that, perhaps, Lord Randolph Churchill will join a portfolio.

State of Joan of Arc Unveiled.

PARIS, June 29.—Ministers Delleve and Barbey unveiled a statue of Joan of Arc at Nancy to-day. The ceremonies were of an impressive character. The town was handsomely decorated in honor of the occasion. After the unveiling numerous banquets were given in different parts of the town. Among those present were thirty descendants of the brothers of Joan of Arc.

Some Russian papers urge the formation of a treaty of alliance with France as a counterpoise to the alleged defensive alliance between England and Germany. Other papers prefer the present tacit understanding between Russia and France. The latter sentiment prevails in official circles.

Cattlemen Robbed in London.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Four cattlemen who were robbed of their wages in London by a boss cattlemen arrived here to-day—stowaways on the steamship City of Chester from Liverpool. The men had crossed the tramp steamer Waverly, from Baltimore. When they reached London they saw the boss cattlemen collected their wages and fled. They were obliged to pawn their clothes to reach Liverpool, and when there they secured their story. They said that the boss cattlemen were in the hold four days without food or water. On the fifth day they came on deck and told the chief officer their story. They said that the boss cattlemen were in the hold four days without food or water. Singular Floral Tribute at a Funeral.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Ed Coggan, the young iron-molder who was slain by Kerr last Thursday, was buried to-day in Old Mission Cemetery. The iron-molders and nearly all of the trades-unions turned out, and the funeral was one of the largest ever known here. One floral tribute attracted much attention. It was a revolver made of violets on a steel frame, and underneath were the characters "C. of V. D." which is supposed to mean "Cause of your death." This singular offering, which attracted much attention, was sent by a Miss Kraemer, the daughter of a wealthy business man here. What relationship she held to the dead man is not known. There was no disorder at the funeral.

ENCOUNTER WITH A TRAMP.

Thrilling Experience of a Young Woman Operator at a Lonely Railway Station.

ENR, Pa., June 29.—Miss Ida Wakely, the handsome young night telegraph operator at Swanville station on the Nickel-plate railroad, is the heroine of a "thrilling encounter." Before Miss Wakely took the position at the little out-of-the-way country station, on Saturday night, she would be exposed from tramps who follow the road from east to west.

So she had not only armed herself, but practiced until she became an expert with the revolver. Shortly after midnight, at an hour when there are only a few trains, the young woman heard some one at the door and opened it. A villainous face appeared at the window. The fellow demanded admittance and was refused. She then threw a handful of coal through the window, and then made a dash for the opening. Just then Miss Wakely flashed her revolver and ordered the intruder to get out. The fellow, who was a tramp, fled in haste, and she pursued him to the door, where she caught the operator, whom she informed of her dilemma. The engine was detached, and with the crew aboard, ran to the rescue. While the crew were coming to the young woman's relief the burglar tried to induce her to hand over the contents of the safe and made her cowering threats, but to her engine with the crew turned a sharp curve he ran away in time to escape lynching. The night of terror was too much for Miss Wakely, and she was relieved by the day operator she faints.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.

A Laboring Man Gives Good Reasons in Opposition to Free Coinage.

The State veterinary surgeon has decided that six fine horses belonging to Joseph Kapp, who lives six miles north of Vincennes, have glanders. Four of them are to be shot to-day.

John O'Tool, a well-known Irish patriot, who resided at Brownsburg, died at the age of eighty-seven years.

O'Tool, some thirty years ago, with his family, escaped banishment at the hands of the British government by finding his way to America.

On Friday afternoon J. O. Williams and Wm. Hiatt and son were returning to Crawfordsville from Alamo, Montgomery county, and were overtaken by a severe storm. They took shelter under a tree in order to let down the buggy curtains. While there the tree was struck by lightning and the arm of Mr. Williams was paralyzed, and remained so for two hours. The son of Mr. Hiatt was insensible for several hours, and is yet suffering much pain in his head.

Mine Horror at Monmouth Averted by the Prompt Rescue of Imprisoned Men.

MONMOUTH, June 28.—A horror was averted here yesterday by prompt and vigorous action of four brave men. The tile-works, located a mile east of the city, was the scene of the disaster. An explosion of gas at the foot of the new shaft, ninety feet deep, ignited the engine-house at the top, and the wooden structures above were soon ablaze. The shaft was soon filled with smoke, and the sixteen men imprisoned below were obliged to seek shelter in the northernmost part of the mine, where they lay down on their faces to keep from suffocating. There seemed no means of escape, and the cries of the mothers, wives and children were heart-rending. Four men volunteered to go to their comrades' rescue, and were let down an old, disused shaft. Armed with picks, axes, and spades, they dug and dug until they had reached a narrow passage between two stone walls of earth, and one by one the nearly suffocated men crawled through the small passage-way over the burning debris, and at last, when the last one had been rescued, a shout of joy went up from the many hundreds who were gathered at the spot. Some of the men were more dead than alive, but all were saved by the rescue. The damage to the works is considerable, but work will be continued.

Outcome of the Morris Tragedy.

SPECIAL TO THE INDIANAPOLIS JOURNAL.

MORRIS, June 29.—Charles Decker, whose skull was fractured by burglars early Thursday morning, died this afternoon, after lying in an unconscious condition 109 hours. When Mrs. Stevens, his aged mother, who was also injured by the robbers, heard the news of his death, it effected a cure, and tonight all hope for her recovery has been abandoned.

Brief Mention.

Henry Ricker died at Quincy from the effect of the heat. Many horses and other animals have died of heat at Monticello.

When a butter is sold to the storekeeper for very low prices be good to the calves and push them along toward the export steamer. By no means get discouraged with dairy and sacrifice the cows. If a depression will cease, and if it continues, you cannot farm successfully without the cows. Lean toward beef if you have good cattle, and if you have not, get better blood. Whoever quits keeping cows, all must not. This is the natural home of the cow. We have expected this. There is so much territory in our Nation where dairying can be pursued and beef-making cannot be profitably, that there is too much leaning in the dairy direction. Save all the calves in your first-rate dairies, and you will not miss the butter price so much as if you had no beef prospect. We concede that the dairy has paid well lately, but that very fact has turned some dairymen into cowboys. Many times we have contended that dairymen were neglecting the possibilities of beef in connection with dairy.
